About Us

Geometria, headquartered in downtown Manhattan, is a digital-first media company with full-service capabilities, including creative and production. The company fully owns and operates all of its premium LED digital networks in high-traffic and strategic areas within supermarkets, grocery stores, elevators, fitness centers, and LED truck fleets. These digital networks target sought-after consumers while they are making important purchasing decisions.

Geometria has expanded its capabilities and has joined the programmatic ecosystem. Every digital network is now integrated with industry-recognized SSPs, generating significant demand from big brands across various categories serving over 1.3 B monthly impressions.

Traffic and impressions in every location are measured by PerView, the industry-standard company.
